

Supplementary Figure 1. Reliably greater activity in ASD children vs. typically developing children during imitation comprised right visual and left anterior parietal areas (thresholded at $t > 1.83$, $P < 0.05$, corrected for multiple comparisons at the cluster level).